

Title: True Friend
Lyrics: Val Kilmer

Until the end I've been a true friend
Always steady
Always true
I never bent when the way was straight for you
There's more to say
But I can't take it today
'Cause I don't feel what you feel anymore
And I don't see what you see anymore
Yeah I don't feel what you feel anymore
Until the end I've been a true friend
One more mortal has let me down
I'm alone with my rhyming in an unknown town
Alone with poetry and foreign football on hotel television
A text message from a troubled-kept woman
And I bend and I bend and I'm abandoned
Cause I don't see what you see anymore
And I don't feel what you feel anymore
Until the end I've been a true friend
La la la Lies
All that's left are lies
La la la lie
All you do is lie
You're givin' me bad dreams or so it seems
My son in danger my daughter a stranger
My hope my heart my prayer last thought
Was to pray for you
I've just got one question vacuous man
How could you not see my value
And I bend and I bend and I'm abandoned
And I don't feel what you feel anymore
Until the end I've been a true friend
Until the end I've been a true friend
